Firstchoicemedss.com

Overview

History Firstchoicemedss.com, a relatively new online drugstore, was registered at the end of 2021. The short duration of its existence raises concerns about its reliability and safety for customers. The owner's location is disclosed as India, but other owner details are undisclosed.

License

License The website lacks regulatory seals and information about any approvals it follows. LegitScript categorizes this pharmacy as a rogue, indicating it may not meet the required accreditation to legally sell medications online in certain countries.

Drugs

Drugs Firstchoicemedss.com primarily offers generic medications. While generic brand names are mentioned, it's unclear where these medications are sourced from. The lack of clarity regarding the source could lead to issues related to medication quality or correct dispensing. What types of medications does FirstChoiceMedss.com offer? FirstChoiceMedss.com offers a variety of medications across several categories including men's health, pain relief, women's health, and eye care. The site primarily focuses on generic medicines, which might not meet the same quality standards as those manufactured in countries with stricter pharmaceutical regulations. Is FirstChoiceMedss.com a legitimate and trustworthy online pharmacy? FirstChoiceMedss.com has been identified as a rogue pharmacy by LegitScript and lacks essential regulatory approvals such as CIPA and MHRA. Additionally, the site has a low trust rating on ScamAdviser, suggesting it may not be a trustworthy source for medications. What are the shipping options and delivery times for FirstChoiceMedss.com? FirstChoiceMedss.com offers shipping via mail and courier, with free shipping on orders over $200. However, customers should be aware that delivery times can be lengthy, with the site stating that orders may take up to 30 business days to arrive. Are there any customer reviews available for FirstChoiceMedss.com? There are no customer reviews for FirstChoiceMedss.com on independent platforms like Trustpilot. The lack of verified customer feedback contributes to the difficulties in assessing the reliability and quality of services offered by this online pharmacy.

Conclusion

Conclusion In summary, there are several red flags associated with Firstchoicemedss.com that should discourage potential customers. The lack of business information, absence of regulatory approvals, and potential association with a previously taken-down website raise concerns about its trustworthiness. Customer reviews and feedback are also scarce. We advise against using this pharmacy and recommend seeking alternative sources for your medical needs. Our rating for this pharmacy is one star out of five. It is crucial to prioritize safety and reliability when purchasing medications online.
